

BRITISH CHALLENGE EXPECTED SHORTLY

American Motor Boat Club Confident of Defense.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—There is expected to be received during the present week by Walter M. Hieling, secretary of the Motor Boat Club of America, a challenge from England to the British International Cup for motor boats.

The American boat Dixie, owned by E. J. Schroeder, won the cup in South-amp-ton waters last year, defeating the British challenger, now being finished at Cowes, will do much better than this mark. Thirty nautical miles an hour is expected by the owner and builders.

In the defense of the trophy the Motor Boat Club of America is confident that boats of speed sufficient to keep the cup in this country at least another year will be at the starting line.

Interest Alive Here.

Rumor has it that the motor boat enthusiasts of America are not indifferent to the retention here of the cup. Construction of new boats, it is said, is going on, and much confidence is expressed in the result.

The race must take place in sheltered waters, and the course for next summer's contest has already received attention. Long Island sound may be selected, but waters should be avoided that will in any way subject the racers to beam seas. They do not go well at such times. Head seas are more preferable, and do not give the helmsmen of these boats a great deal of anxiety.

CHAMPION BEAR HUNTER.

The man designated by President Roosevelt as the "greatest living bear hunter" is in Guadalajara. He is Col. William D. Pickett, of Lexington, Ky., and he is here to spend the winter.

It was during an address before the Boone and Crockett Club of New York last year that President Roosevelt declared Colonel Pickett to be the world's foremost bear hunter.

Colonel Pickett is eighty years of age, but he is as well preserved and as active as the majority of men many years his junior. He is a veteran of the Mexican and civil wars, and during the latter conflict he served on the staff of Gen. William J. Hardee. By profession Colonel Pickett is a civil engineer, and in 1872 professional duties called him to Wyoming, where he remained until three years ago, when he returned to his old home in Lexington, Ky. About ten years ago Colonel Pickett gave up all business duties and devoted his time to big game hunting, spending from seven to eight months each year in the mountains of northwestern Wyoming and southwestern Montana. Stories of many of his expeditions have appeared in various publications of the United States—San Antonio Express.

CRAB HAS 2,000,000 JOINTS.

The crab known as the scale-tailed was believed to have become extinct in Great Britain fifty years ago, the last recorded specimens being taken in the ponds on Hampstead Heath. But now it has turned up again in some numbers in two ponds on Preston Marsh, near Southwark, London.

About two and a half inches long, the scale-tailed crab has a very striking likeness to that remarkable creature, the King crab, and this because the front part of the body is covered by a great semi-circular shield, or carapace, while, as in the case of the King crab, it swims on its legs. The great number of its legs the scale-tailed crab has few rivals, while in the number of joints which these shielded legs possess it is second to none.

Between them no other creature can compare. The naturalist Schaffer once essayed the task of counting them and made the magnificent total of 1,382,694. Latreille put down the number at a round 2,000,000—London Graphic.

SAGACITY OF ELEPHANTS.

The following tragic story of the death of Paragana Barababum, khera of Dalmia, is related in a native paper called Manbhumi.

Paragana Barababum went to his paddy field and found a herd of elephants destroying his crop. His rage rose, he shot arrows from behind a tree, and he killed a young elephant.

Then the greatness of his crime felt on the mind of Paragana Barababum, and he fled to the utmost bough. The elephants surrounded it and roared, but they could not reach Paragana Barababum. But their sagacity was great and with their own trunk they brought water from the pond and they watered the ground at the foot of the tree.

When they had watered well and the tree was soft they uprooted the tree. Then they avenged the death of their young by trampling to death of Paragana Barababum—Exchange.
